Reward Spurs Viet Nam Hunt For Americans

98th BIRTHDAY — Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, mother of President Kennedy, is shown as she celebrated her 98th birthday yesterday. About 20 friends and relatives were present at a Catholic mass in her Boston home earlier in the day. Mrs. Fitzgerald is the widow of John F. Fitzgerald, twice mayor of Boston and three times a congressman.

Three Advisers Apparently Held Captive By Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Vietnamese officer Thursday spurred the hunt for three missing U.S. Army men, believed to be prisoners of the Communists, by offering his units $3,000 for their rescue.

Brig. Gen. Huynh Van Cao posted the reward.

A massive air and ground search already was under way in the deep south area where a government company was overwhelmed and the American advisers vanished Tuesday.

Both Officers Wounded

The Americans were Capt. Humbert R. Versace of Baltimore, Md.; Lt. James N. Rowe of McAllen, Tex.; and Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer of Spring Lake, N.C.

Vietnamese survivors said both the officers were wounded in the skirmish. There was an unconfirmed report that Pitzer, a medic, also was hit.

Fragmentary reports from villagers said all three were seen walking along with their hands tied behind their backs after the Tuesday engagement, fought near Tan Phu, 140 miles southwest of Saigon.

Casualty estimates of the 120-man Vietnamese company were revised to 16 known dead, 32 wounded and 34 missing — evidently killed or captured.

Another Ambush By Reds

The Communists had lined up the 16 dead along a river bank. AP photographer Horst Faas, who saw the bodies, said there were indications the group may have been wounded in the fight and shot to death later.

Another military setback for President Ngo Dinh Diem's government was reported in a jungle region 60 miles east of Saigon.

Guerrillas wrecked an armored train there Wednesday, derailed five of its 11 cars, and shot up the military guard.

Eight troops were listed as killed, 10 wounded and 14 missing. Communist casualties were not determined.

U.S. Defends Bonn Regime

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In a sharp reply Thursday to Communist attacks, the United States defended West Germany as a loyal ally and advocate of peace.

Ambassador Charles C. Stelle, the U.S. arms negotiator, told the U.N. assembly's main political committee the Soviet Union and Poland had launched "serious and slanderous attacks" against the Bonn regime during debate on disarmament.

K. V. Novikov, the Soviet delegate, said he regarded Stelle's statement as a defense of remnants of the German Nazis, militarists and other scum of the Federal Republic of Germany.

Josef Winiewicz, Polish deputy foreign minister, declared nothing Stelle said dispelled Polish fears that U.S. policy toward West Germany is sowing the seeds of nuclear war in central Europe.

Labor To Hear JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy plans tentatively to speak to the AFL-CIO convention in New York City Nov. 15, the White House said Thursday.

Escape Shaft Reaches Three Trapped Miners

PEINE, Germany (Friday) (UPI) — A rescue drill rig early Friday punched an escape shaft through to three iron miners trapped for eight days in an air bubble 262 feet beneath the earth in a flooded North German mine.

The giant, American-made oil drill bit punched through at 9:15 p.m. EST (3:15 a.m. in Germany).

Manager Rudolf Stein of Lisdorf Mine Co. said the three men, trapped since last Thursday night, cannot be brought to

Senate Leaders Move To Avert Deep Aid Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic and Republican leaders teamed up Thursday to try to head off deep cuts in President Kennedy's $4.2-billion foreign aid bill by offering a compromise amendment to reduce the total by $385 million.

The move was spearheaded by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Mansfield said he feared heavy cuts in the program might "jeopardize if not destroy" one of the principal basis of security and international welfare.

Backing the compromise were ranking members of both parties on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The action failed to stem plans by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., backed by a group of other Democrats, to return the bill to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a second look. The motion he plans to offer Friday would direct the committee to report back by Nov. 7.

Morse, attempting to win more support, said he would soften earlier plans to recommit the measure with instructions to the committee to reduce its money figures and set down policy guidance in line with its earlier criticism of the program. The instruction part will be omitted from his motion.

It was decided to put off any voting until Friday, with the leaders' compromise motion the order of business. There was no indication that hopes for final passage this week would be revived.

Baby Walking At Two Weeks

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Parents of a two-week-old baby claimed Thursday the infant began walking at two weeks but explained that that two other sons walked at the same age.

Medical men were invited by Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Beutel to visit them at their home and see for themselves.

Roger Eric Beutel was born Oct. 16 and weighed 6 pounds 5½ ounces. He can support his own weight but walks with a slight stoop and doesn't have much stamina, the parents said.

U.S. Won't Cut Force In Germany

Kennedy Says No Reduction Is Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy declared Thursday it is U.S. policy to keep American combat forces in Germany at their present strength. He said there may be some reduction in noncombat forces.

The policy, Kennedy said, is to "maintain six divisions in Germany as long as they are required."

In the political wars at home, Kennedy brushed off with a laughing retort a charge by Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater that his administration is falsifying the news in order to perpetuate itself in power.

Asked about troop reductions in the Far East, Kennedy said the schedule calls for removing 1,000 men from Viet Nam by the end of the year. The first withdrawal, he said, would be of about 250.

As far as other forces are concerned, he went on, there would have to be more study. He noted that "we are able to move about the world much faster" and that new planes would increase airlift capacity much more.

Kennedy spoke at a news conference in comment on a deluge of reports from Europe that the United States would pull some of its forces out of West Germany.

These reports came out of Paris, where NATO has its headquarters. They followed rumors sparked by Exercise Big Lift, that took a complete division to Europe by air, plus a speech by Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric a week ago Saturday in Chicago.

Gilpatric said that a series of changes in American military forces overseas lies ahead.

But on the scene in Germany last week, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance both gave renewed assurances that the United States was not going to cut its 250,000-man ground forces in Europe.

Ranging to another spot in the world news, Kennedy said the United Nations is keeping its political people in Yemen and added he hopes it will be able to secure maintenance of the cease-fire there.

Kennedy said the United States has expressed its great interest in seeing that fighting does not break out anew along the border.

Philadelphia Election
Among other matters coming up:

POLITICS — Asked about the election for mayor in Philadelphia next week, Kennedy said that civil rights "may be a factor in the election there although I am not aware that they—the candidates—have taken different positions on the civil rights issue."

He said we will have to wait and see if there is a backlash among white voters against his civil rights position.

"I find the work rewarding," Kennedy replied when he was asked why he liked the job of president. But he said it still was too soon for him to announce whether he had plans to seek another term.

CUBA — Kennedy said he cannot comment on Fidel Castro's statement that he has captured some Central Intelligence Agency agents and plans to execute them.

In response to another question, Kennedy said "I don't think we can ever give a precise number" of how many Soviet troops still are in Cuba, but he said there was a steady decrease in numbers, with a marked decrease recently.

Mental Research Bill Signed By JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy signed legislation he said Thursday will spur major research so that "in a few years we can confidently look forward to knowing enough about mental retardation to prevent it in most cases."

The bill authorizes a $329-million program along lines Kennedy and his family have sought for years. It includes matching grants for community mental health centers, research and education of teachers for handicapped children — the various undertakings running three or four years.

The signing was witnessed by a large congressional contingent, federal officials, representatives of organizations interested in mental health and others.

Truce Hailed By Moroccan, Algeria Chiefs

ALGIERS (AP) — Algerian and Moroccan chiefs of state returned home Thursday from the Bamako conference with expressions of satisfaction about the cease-fire agreement in their war.

Cheering crowds welcomed President Ahmed Ben Bella in Algiers and Moroccan King Hassan II in Rabat.

With shooting formally ordered to end at midnight Friday, Ben Bella said "We got what we wanted, first of all peace and confirmation of the rightness of our position."

King Hassan took another view of the outcome of the little summit meeting in Mali's capital.

"It is not Morocco or Algeria who came out of the Bamako conference in a more prominent position," he said, "but all of Africa."

He said the conference proved Africa "has grown to the rank of a continent capable of resolving its own problems in an atmosphere of calm and friendship."

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, the chief mediator, flew to Geneva for a week's rest. "I am particularly happy that African blood will not be shed any longer," he said.

Algeria prepared to celebrate Friday the ninth anniversary of the day when guerrilla forces moved out of the mountains of eastern Algeria to launch a rebellion against French rule. A huge parade is planned.

The cease-fire and other elements of the proposed settlement were worked out in a conference of Hassan and Ben Bella with Selassie and President Modibo Keita of Mali.

There were no fresh reports of fighting from either Algerian or Moroccan sources.

Gen. Walker Flies Flags Upside Down

DALLAS (UPI) — Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, angered by apologies for abuse heaped on United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson in Dallas last week, flew five U.S. flags upside down on his front lawn Thursday.

"I think Stevenson got what he expected," Walker said. "He assisted Khrushchev in taking over Cuba and establishing it as a base of subversion."

The upside down flag is an international signal of distress. Walker said Dallas is a "city in distress," and said the flags will continue to fly inverted as long as city fathers and newspapers "maintain Dallas is a city of shame."

Walker declined to say whether ultra-conservative forces for which he speaks will demonstrate when President Kennedy visits Dallas Nov. 22. But he said, Kennedy is "a liability to the free world."

Teacher Stands To Keep Fortune

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government said Thursday that a New York school teacher who found $54,200 in a paper bag at the Gettysburg battlefield probably will be able to keep his fortune.

A Treasury spokesman said the money, in a "mutilated and deteriorated condition," was turned over to the Secret Service and so far, no one has claimed it.

The Treasury said the school teacher, George C. Rapoport, stumbled on the paper bag full of currency while exploring the Pennsylvania Civil War battlefield site last July or August.

Russians Deny Three Attaches Part Of Spy Plot

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet delegation to the United Nations, in a note to the U.S. delegation, denied Thursday night that three of its members had taken part in a spy plot. It protested that they had been arrested illegally.

A Soviet delegation source said the three would leave Friday in response to a U.S. demand that they get out of the country quickly. Informal sources said they would take off from New York City Friday night en route back to Moscow.

The three are Gleb A. Pavlov, 39, attaché; Yuri A. Romanov, 38, third secretary, and Vladimir I. Olenov, 37, employee of the Soviet delegation.

The Soviet note replied to the official U.S. demand for their departure. It also dealt briefly with the case of Igor A. Ivanov, 33, of New York City, Russian chauffeur for the Amtorg Soviet Trading Agency. Ivanov is still held on spy charges.

War Vet Back In Ranks Of Living After 40 Years

STOURBRIDGE, England (AP) — Fred Bristow, retired librarian, is back in the ranks of the living, but not entirely.

Fred, a lively 69, looked on as a stone mason chipped his name off the list of dead on the city's memorial to World War I.

"It's taken me 40 years to get that done," he said.

He still is listed among the dead on a memorial window in the parish church.

Fred explained that the mix-up started in 1918.

A telegram arrived at his mother's home.

"We regret to inform you," it said, "that F. Bristow died of wounds in action."

Barry's Charge Is Laughed Off By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater accused President Kennedy Thursday of playing the basest kind of politics with information about the government because he wants to stay in power.

Kennedy said he sees no point in replying now. He added he expects to hear many more charges, some of them more serious, from the Arizona Republican in the months ahead.

But the President said he stands ready to debate Goldwater or any other Republican who becomes the party's nominee to challenge him for the White House next year.

"I've indicated that I was going to debate if I was renominated," Kennedy told a news conference.

Goldwater said if he runs, he wants to debate Kennedy. "I would enjoy that very much," the senator told the Women's National Press Club. "We spent nine years arguing with each other and I've sort of missed it."

Goldwater and Kennedy sat on opposite sides of the Senate aisle before Kennedy became president.

Goldwater accused the President of weighing everything the government does on the scales of public relations.

At his news conference, Kennedy laughed off the Goldwater charge.

"Well," he said, "as I have said before, I think it would be unwise at this time to answer, or reply to Sen. Goldwater."

"I am confident he will be making many charges even more serious than this one in the coming months," Kennedy said.

Hundreds Injured At Indianapolis

Seats Ripped Out, Concrete Chunks Smash Spectators

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An explosion rocked the packed Indianapolis Coliseum Thursday night, killing at least 55 persons. Heavy equipment was being moved in to seek more bodies under the debris.

The explosion occurred at the Holiday on Ice Revue show just as the finale was being presented in the arena of the Coliseum. The site of the blast is the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

Fire Chief William Lynch said 55 bodies had been removed from the blast-shattered piles of bleachers and structural concrete.

The injured, estimated in the hundreds, were rushed to hospitals in taxis, ambulances, cars and buses.

First reports said gas had exploded under the expensive box seat section.

Deputy Sheriff Bernard Gohman said indications were that the gas exploded under a refreshment stand beneath the seats.

Fifteen bodies lay on the ice of the arena. Others were found under huge slabs of concrete.

The blast ripped out a 50-foot section of high-priced box seats at one side of the arena. Giant chunks of concrete from the arena's foundation were hurled into the air and smashed down on the spectators.

The explosion occurred as the finale of the show was being presented, and the entire company of 48 skaters was on the ice. A spectator, Paul Sims of Carmel, said as far as he could tell no performers were injured. He said they scurried out of the way of falling bodies.

The audience was estimated at 6,000 persons. The Coliseum seats about twice that number.

Harvey Ambrose of Columbus, Ohio, who sells novelties with the show, said, "There was a tremendous explosion. The whole arena rose up like a fountain. I was hit by falling bricks but not injured seriously."

Donna Walters of Indianapolis said her grandfather, Ray Walters, and a woman friend were killed. She said she and others of their party were thrown out of their seats but were injured only slightly.

The dead and injured lay bleeding on the ice. Other injured lay in the corridors, attended by friends.

Many of the dead were expensively dressed. One woman's body was covered with a mink coat.

Following the blast, a small fire broke out but was extinguished quickly.

The outside of the building remained intact.

Leon Eaton of Osgood, Ind., a spectator sitting on the opposite side of the rink said flames shot 30 feet into the air.

Drug Store Explosion Claims Lives Of Six

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — A gay Halloween celebration turned into a tragedy Thursday night when an explosion in a drug store killed at least six persons and injured more than a score.

Hundreds had turned out for a Halloween parade and window-decorating contest on the town square in this city about 18 miles northwest of Atlanta.

The explosion blew out the front of the drug store shortly before 7 p.m. Glass and debris showered pedestrians in the square.

All of the dead were in the drug store. Rescue workers continued to dig through debris in the basement of the shattered building in fear that others may have died.

A hospital spokesman said the dead were Mrs. Ralph Fowler, wife of a physician; S. A. White, an oil distributor; Mrs. Betty Carlisle, 24, an employee of the drug store; Joe Ben Carter; Mrs. Marie Butler, and Mrs. Otella Scott. All were from the Marietta area.

Cause of the explosion was not determined immediately.

The second floor of the two-story building was in danger of crashing down upon rescue workers. Police forced crowds of curious beyond ropes half a block from the scene.

Marietta police called demolition squads.

About 25 persons were admitted to a hospital, while many more were treated for minor injuries.

Policeman Struck Her, Negro Girl Tells Hearing

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) — A sick Negro girl, 14, held in jail without bail nearly three months, testified Thursday she was struck by a policeman when arrested in a demonstration protesting segregation.

"A policeman hit me on the head with a night stick," said the girl, Sallie Mae Durham, a student who was among more than 200 Negroes arrested last summer.

She took the stand as attorneys fought to prove state, county and city officials have conspired to deprive citizens of constitutional rights. A three-judge federal court is hearing suits seeking injunctions against interference with integration activities and the confinement of five integration leaders.

She said police officers at the city and county jail refused to give her a bandage or an aspirin. She said she refused to quit singing and Sheriff Fred D. Chappell told her, "I'm going to send you over to the dungeon."

Sallie Mae said she was then confined in a small place which was not big enough to lie down in.

She was arrested Aug. 8 and charged with riot, unlawful assembly, assisting in an escape and assault and battery.

She told the court she had given her age as 17 when arrested because she was afraid she would be sent to a reformatory.

County Atty. Warren Fortson said the girl was turned over to juvenile authorities Oct. 3 when it was learned she was only 14.

"She has not been permitted to make bail," Fortson told the judges. He explained that she was in custody of the Juvenile Court and the judge had been

Two Prisoners Escape From Jail At Easton

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Two prisoners, including one who was sentenced Tuesday to an eight-year term in the Maryland Penitentiary, escaped late Thursday afternoon from the Talbot County Jail.

Jack Richard Sproles, 32, of Easton and Glen Burnie, and Andrew Skinner, 19, a Negro, of near Easton, ran out the front door of the jail after knocking down deputy Charles B. Greenwood.

Sproles was sentenced to the penitentiary by Circuit Judge J. DeWeese Carter after pleading guilty to charges of grand larceny in connection with the theft of a safe from an Easton tavern on Sept. 14.

Sproles' brother, Benny Bundy Sproles, 29, of Baltimore, was sentenced to four years and is still in the county jail awaiting transfer. A third defendant in the case has requested a jury trial and is free on $2,000 bond.

Skinner, the other escapee, was serving a 90-day term for auto theft, and would have been released on Dec. 2.

Greenwood, 65, said he was on duty alone in the jail at the time of the escape.

The deputy said he went to the cell block to allow another prisoner to go to the showers. As he unlocked the door, Greenwood said, Sproles and Skinner shoved against the door, pushing Greenwood against the opposite wall and knocking him down. The prisoners ran to the main office, and out the front door.

Philadelphia Democratic Machine Fights For Life

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — This city's powerful Democratic organization, which gave President Kennedy a 331,000 majority in 1960, finds itself in an unexpectedly tough battle now to retain control of City Hall in next Tuesday's mayoral election.

Just how close the Democratic leaders regard the contest was pointed up when Kennedy flew in Wednesday night to make what he called his first political speech in three years—an appeal for the election of Mayor James H. J. Tate to a four-year term.

The big imponderable is civil rights, and the President met that head on by saying special credit belongs to Tate for "vigorous leadership" dealing with the "health and safety and job opportunities and housing and education of all of the citizens of this city."

Tate has accused his opponent, Republican James T. McDermott, 37, a lawyer who never has held public office, of "playing for the white vote."

McDermott vigorously denies this. He says he seeks no support from any one group, and if elected would be mayor for all the people. But he does accuse Tate of being indecisive on civil rights.

"At the present time," McDermott claims, "you have crime in the streets. You have rioting in our schools. You have a general breakdown of our concepts of law and order, caused by indecisiveness of our chief executive. We must insure the rights of every man."

Tate claims McDermott made a pitch for the white vote by declaring government may be wrong in interfering with an individual's right to choose the type of neighborhood in which he wants to live, or the school he wants to send his children.

U.N. Unit Asks "Urgent" Total Test-Ban Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The main U.N. political committee approved Thursday a resolution calling on the 18-nation disarmament commission to resume negotiations "with a sense of urgency" on a total test-ban agreement.

By 97-1, with 3 abstentions, the committee adopted a resolution sponsored by 30 nations. The nations include the United States, the Soviet Union and 15 others who will meet in Geneva early next year. They will try to agree on a ban on underground tests, which are exempted from the limited test-ban pact signed in Moscow.

Albania, an ally of Communist China in the Chinese-Soviet dispute, voted against the resolution. Its delegate again assailed the limited test-ban treaty as a fraud and "contrary to the cause of peace and international security."

University Cracks Down On Coed Night Absences

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Miss Helen E. Clark, dean of women at the University of Maryland, has cracked down on overnight absences by women students.

Miss Clark announced that undergraduate women who reside at the university may not leave the campus to stay overnight in a hotel, motel or similar public lodging unless accompanied by their parents or unless they have written permission to do so.

"A number of instances of student partying in apartments, considerable imbibing of alcohol and lack of moral behavior have been drawn to our attention," the dean was quoted as saying by the university newspaper, Diamondback.

"The students know we realize this is going on but since we haven't taken a public stand the students believe we condone such behavior."

She said the memorandum was intended to interpret a section of the university regulations dealing with parents' authorization for student absences.

She referred to a form which parents may fill out stating that their daughters may be absent overnight without their permission for a specific occasion, provided the girl tells university officials where she will be and how long she will be absent.

This section, the dean said, frequently is interpreted incorrectly by some women students as meaning they may go anywhere any time so long as they tell truthfully where they will be.

Baltimore Mayor Urges Md. Sales, Income Tax Hikes

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mayor McKeldin proposed Thursday that the Maryland sales and income taxes be increased to give the Baltimore metropolitan area a financial shot in the arm.

He said he will ask Gov. Tawes and the General Assembly to authorize the increases to help the city and five counties—Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Harford and Howard.

He said he will ask officials of the five counties to support his request for a 1-cent increase in the sales tax and a 1 per cent raise in the income tax. Both taxes are now levied at a rate of 3 cents on the dollar.

A commission recommended last July that such an increase be authorized, with the state collecting the taxes and returning them to the city and counties in which they were paid.

McKeldin said the proposal would mean about $24 million a year more in city revenues and a total of about $14 million more to the five counties.

Baltimore City District Setup Held 'Null, Void'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Circuit Judge Wilson K. Barnes ruled Thursday that Baltimore's legislative districts are unconstitutional because of the big differences in the numbers of their residents.

He declared their boundaries "null and void" and suggested that, unless the Legislature does something about it, he'll order all city candidates for the Legislature to run on a citywide basis.

Barnes issued the ruling in a case brought by Samuel A. Cullotta and Mrs. Ann D. Hopkins, Republican leaders in the predominantly Democratic city.

He said the present district alignment violates the Maryland and U.S. Constitutions. He cited a Maryland provision requiring that the districts embrace groups nearly equal in number and the U.S. Fourteenth Amendment, which guarantees every citizen equal protection under the laws.

Secretaries Discuss Christmas Observance

Observance of Christmas was discussed at the meeting of the Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association, conducted by Mrs. Lucy Baisley Monday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

December 9 was set for the annual Christmas party, which will be held at the Shrine club, in the form of a dinner. Instead of exchanging jingle presents, it was decided to give donations to a needy family and pack a food basket for a family. Mrs. Henrietta DeRose, civic chairman, is chairman of arrangements.

Plans also were discussed for the Boss Night dinner, which will be November 7 at the Cumberland Country Club. A secretarial seminar will be held in the spring.

Preceding the business session, a jewelry party was conducted by Mrs. Betty Armstrong, Rawlings.

Adelia Morris Heads Mothers

Mrs. Adelia Morris was installed as president of the DeMolay Mothers Club at the meeting Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

Plans were discussed to hold a rummage sale for the benefit of the club. Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, it was decided that the next meeting will be held November 13.

Concluding the evening a social hour was held and refreshments were served by Mrs. Florence Yankelevitz and Mrs. Nancy Williams.

WCD Observance To Be Held Today

The annual observance of World Community Day will be held today with three services this afternoon and three at 7:30 p.m.

The first will be held at 1 p.m. in LaVale Methodist Church. Services will be held at 2 p.m. at St. Luke's Lutheran Church and Centre Street Methodist Church. Participating at St. Luke's will be Centenary, Elliott Memorial, First Methodist, Melvin, Mt. Pleasant, Pleasant Grove and Zion Methodist. Mid-town churches taking part at Centre Street are Central Methodist, Emmanuel Episcopal, First Baptist, First Christian, First Presbyterian, Grace Baptist, Kingsley, McKendree, Metropolitan AME, Salvation Army, St. Mark's St. Paul's Lutheran, St. Philips Episcopal, and Zion United Church of Christ.

Evening services will be at the First Church of the Nazarene, with Emmanuel Methodist, Calvary EUB, Trinity Methodist, First EUB, St. John's Lutheran, Holy Cross Episcopal, First Brethren, Bethel EUB, Davis Memorial and Grace Methodist taking part; at the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Ridgeley; and at Potomac Park EUB.

A rummage sale, sponsored by the Soroptimist Club, will be held at 64 North Centre Street today from 5 until 8 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Century Club Prepares For Christmas Caravan

Reports on the fourth annual Christmas Caravan were given and at the suggestion of Mrs. Richard Heacock, Mrs. George Newman and the executive board, the LaVale Century Club voted to contribute money to help in the redecoration of the adoption room in the welfare building on Cumberland Street.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. William W. Hoover. Mrs. Jack Higgins caravan general chairman asked for reports for the affair, which will be December 6. Mrs. William McKee, house chairman, announced that Mrs. Newman and Mrs. J. Edgar MacMannis are co-chairmen for decorating the James Warden home on Henry Drive; Mrs. William M. Leeson and Mrs. John G. Lucas Jr., for the Albert Tish home on National Highway; Mrs. Charles C. Irby, the Howard Taylor home on Braddock Road, and Mrs. William S. Firey, the Raymond Lapp home on Weir Avenue.

Mrs. Glenn E. Martin reported on the items that will be for sale at the bazaar in LaVale Methodist Church during the caravan. She asked all members to help with the work at her home each Tuesday at 10:30 a.m., and reminded them to bring a decorated gift box to the November meeting.

Tickets were distributed by Mrs. Harold Francis. They may be obtained from the members, at the LaVale Drug Store or by calling Mrs. Francis at 729-2410.

Mrs. Robert G. Garner announced the John Ritchie Combo as the feature for the dance being held in the evening at the Cumberland Country Club from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m. These tickets will be available from members and at the door. Mrs. William F. Baker, arts and crafts, Mrs. William Leeson, garden, and Mrs. W. M. Wilson, publicity, also reported on their plans for the caravan.

Mrs. Eugene V. McCune reported that the opening hours at LaVale Library are now from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday. She also stated that monthly story hours will be conducted at both LaVale schools and will feature new stories and books from the LaVale Library.

Mrs. Paul A. Buchanan, arts and crafts co-chairman, will hold a candle workshop at her home in Park Heights Tuesday at 1 p.m. All club members are invited to attend. Mrs. MacMannis reported that the "bridge marathon" group has started its schedule. Mrs. Richard N. Whitcomb, welfare chairman, collected articles that will be sent to the men and women in the state mental hospitals. Mrs. Hoover, asked those who had not contributed to the national club women's project of restoring the base of the Statue of Liberty to do so.

Concluding the evening, Mrs. Raymond E. Twaites, program chairman, introduced Rollin P. Marquis, Allegany County librarian, who spoke on the library service in the county. He stated that there are not adequate quarters or enough professional workers for the libraries. He said it is necessary for individuals to ask for more money to improve library facilities. He stated that two important purposes of libraries are to be an adjunct to the schools and to be the continuation of adult education.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Eugene C. Harris, Mrs. Lawrence Abe, Mrs. Donald Basilio, Mrs. Leeson, Mrs. Charles A. Orlick, Mrs. Whitcomb and Mrs. John S. Wilson.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Secret Of Easy Sleep

High as is our regard for the good effect of refreshing sleep, many of us are unable to get enough of it, either because we're too busy or because we get turned down flat when we seek it.

And with the lack of sleep, everything seems to go wrong. Our sense of well-being disappears altogether and our dispositions suffer accordingly. The power of memory and concentration flies out of our reach. Eyes look bleary and faces show lines of fatigue. A sad state for anyone to be in, but especially sad for the woman who tries to be charming.

When this happens to you, it's time to take the measures that will quickly repair the damage to your beauty and personality. The first step is to teach yourself to sleep all over again.

Re-orient your sleeping habits tonight. Eat a lighter supper than usual. If you suspect your evening beverages keeps you awake, try something less stimulating like caffeine-free coffee. After your meal, give yourself a few hours of quiet relaxation. A chat with a cheerful friend, a puzzle, some music or handwork are excellent forms of distraction from the troubles of the day, which you must leave behind to give your nerves a chance to taper off.

Then, make a point of retiring several hours earlier than you usually do. After a warm bath and a very light rubdown (so you won't wake up your circulation) perform all your other beauty rites with slow leisure. Be sure that you, yourself, look as pretty as you are when these are done and that your room is so tidy that its appearance is positively soothing.

Now this is the most important thing of all: Don't get into bed, turn out the light and say, "Now I'm going to get some sleep." Take up an old, familiar book instead and read until you can't hold your eyes open. Let sleep get you!

Just before you drop off, roll your head over to the right so that your chin touches your right shoulder and then very gradually move it over to your left shoulder. After a couple of easy rolls, the last little bit of tension will leave your body and leave you in dreamland!

John Robert Powers' charm guide, "Your Thirty Days to Charm," gives you a beauty hint for every day of the month. Follow it closely! Watch your charm rating rise. To get your copy send 10c and a stamped, return envelope to Mr. Powers, c/o this newspaper.

Club Has Halloween Parade

Activities were discussed at the meeting of the St. Patrick's Mothers Club, conducted by Mrs. John Hauser following a Halloween party and costume parade, held in St. Patrick's Social Center. The sisters at St. Patrick's School were guests and served as judges.

A chain gang in striped prison outfits with high top shoes, was judged the most original. It was composed of Mrs. Charles McCreary, Mrs. Leon Kelley, Mrs. Eugene Mulligan and Mrs. Arthur Hartman. Dressed as a hobo, Mrs. Robert Schellhaus received first place award as the ugliest; Mrs. Phillip Natale, as a nurse, the funniest; Mrs. James Robinson, a flapper, prettiest; Mrs. Leo Costello, an old man; Mrs. John Rollins and Mrs. Charles D. Matthews, gay nineties old couple.

Routine reports were given and it was decided to hold a white elephant sale in conjunction with the regular meeting November 26. The second and 11th grade mothers will serve refreshments.

Plans also were discussed to have charge of the candy booth for the St. Patrick's bazaar November 19, 20 and 21. Mrs. Vincent Morrissey was named chairman.

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served by the first and 12th grade mothers with Mrs. Robert Quigley in charge, assisted by Mrs. William Larry and Mrs. Wade Coffey.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) — You wouldn't believe it, but it really happened.

This police paddy wagon pulled up in front of a posh Park Avenue apartment some time ago. The officer in charge helped 20 matrons into the "black maria."

The vehicle immediately headed for Riker's Island, headquarters of a jail.

So commenced another excursion by the Lucy Stoners, staunch women banded together to see that females have equal rights with males.

The crusaders who believe, among other things, that a woman ought to keep her maiden name after marriage, went to jail that day on behalf of other women in jail. They went to a men's prison. Before that they had been to a women's prison.

They did a thing like that this particular day to learn firsthand if men in jail had better facilities than women in jail.

The Lucy Stoners, you see, leave no stone unturned in the quest for female equality with males. The trip to jail that day was on behalf of women in much less fortunate circumstances than those surrounding the two hundred "Stoners" in New York City.

It's part of their ambition to help women who can't help themselves.

The league was founded in 1921 to establish the definite legal right of married women to work and receive pay in their own names; to obtain passports in their own names; to run for office under their own names.

What sorts of discrimination still plague women? Listen to the league's bill of particulars on contemporary discriminations:

—The Supreme Court cannot give women legal status as persons because the 14th Amendment recognizes only "male inhabitants."

—Seven states do not permit a wife to sell her own land without the signature of her husband.

—Five states do not permit a wife to keep the profits of an independent business without court sanction. In several states, a husband's consent is necessary.

—Eight states do not permit a married woman to contract a loan on the basis of common valued property. A husband, however, may do so on the identical common property.

—Three states bar women from jury duty on the grounds of and this is the exact statement "defects of sex."

Fire Company Gets Record Number Calls

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company has topped its record for answering fire calls in the sprawling community west of here.

Fire Chief James Loar reported at Tuesday's meeting that five alarms had been answered in the two weeks previous to Tuesday's meeting.

This brings the 1963 total to 78 alarms answered. The previous record for one year had been 72.

Chief Loar again stressed that citizens be careful of outdoor burning during the current dry season.

He urged those who have some debris or leaves to be burned to contact himself or one of his captains so that safety measures can be taken.

Edward Young, chairman of the fire prevention committee, was cited for the activities of the company during Fire Prevention Week.

In the event of rain, the hike will be postponed until spring.

Cumberland Announces Plans For Its Snow Removal Program

The Street Department listed its snow removal program for the 1963-64 season yesterday and said the public can best be served if complaint calls during inclement weather are directed to the department's warehouse.

Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder said cinder barrels at hilly spots in the city have been placed.

Little Princess

MIAMI (AP) — Sounds like a fairy tale, but little Sally Snow White wasn't named that just because it sounded cute.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Harold White, explained that one great-grandmother's first name was Sally, and another's last name was Snow.

They are filled with a mixture of cinders and calcium chloride and are for emergency use. Shovels have been placed with the barrels and the street commissioner, taking note of past experience when the shovels have been stolen, discouraged this practice and warned that the cinders are of no use if there is nothing with which to spread them over slickened areas.

In event of snow, two foremen are on call, alternating each month, and will report for duty along with Street Superintendent Ray Valentine. They will start assigning men to salting and cinder work until snow reaches a depth of two inches and then will be assigned to snow plows. The superintendent or foreman in charge will assign crews to take care of most important thoroughfares first, such as hospital routes, school routes and all highways into the city.

The city is divided into five districts with a snow plow and cinder truck assigned to each. The districts are West Side No. 1; North Cumberland No. 2; East Side and Shades Lane section No. 3; upper Mapleside No. 4; and South End and lower Mapleside No. 5.

Two graders will be assigned to the main streets in the city such as Greene Street, Braddock Road, McMullen Highway, business district, Park Street, Williams Street and the area around Memorial Hospital.

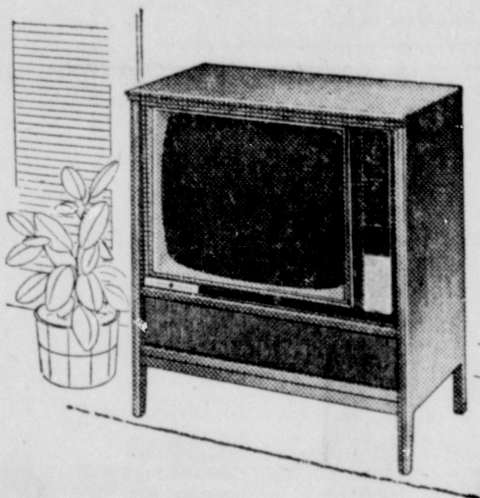

Equipment on hand for removal of snow includes: two power graders, one snow loader, one payload, six snow plow trucks; one cinder and one salt truck ready to go at all times; one sidewalk snow plow; 100 cinder barrels (already placed); and the following: 800 bags of salt (100 pounds to a carload of salt (800 bags), and ing material, 500 tons of cinders (bag); 100 bags of calcium chloride (one-half carload of calcium (400 at stockpile on Central Avenue; 100 pounds to bag); and one (bags) which are on order.

Democrats Favor New Skyline Drive

The Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland yesterday urged U. S. Senators J. Glenn Beall and Daniel Brewster and the state's House of Representatives delegation to encourage federal assistance in building a Skyline Drive in Western Maryland.

Water Line Work Completed

Water Department crews completed repairs to a 20-inch water line in Cresaptown yesterday.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said customers along McMullen Highway from Circle Inn to Cresaptown were out of service for about one hour.

The shutdown was necessary to replace a broken corporation cock at McMullen Highway and Division Avenue.

Wednesday night the Wineow Street subway was closed while the department completed several tasks on a line there. The work included repacking of a 12-inch valve in a six-inch line and cutting out an abandoned line located where one of the piers of the new Wineow Street Bridge will be installed.

In ancient Rome presents were exchanged and there was feasting on Dec. 17, festival of Saturnalia.

The state organization discussed the program at a recent meeting held at Ali Ghan Shrine Club and acted in the matter yesterday. The group was unanimously voted to ask the State Roads Commission for consideration of new roadways for Garrett and Allegany counties. It was stated that the quick action endorsing the proposal be taken by state and federal officials.

Noting that both counties have unemployment higher than the national average, the resolution by the Democratic unit stated that an expressway would encourage tourism and light industry. This would be a start in the economic revitalization of the area, it was stated.

A good transportation system is vital to such growth of both tourism and light industry and the resolution further pointed out that expanding growth and new development in the western counties would benefit the entire state.

Fort Hill Parents Get News Letter

As a means of providing a closer link between the parents and the school, Fort Hill High School today will distribute the first copy of a new bi-monthly news letter to the parents of its students, according to Dr. Wayne W. Hill, principal.

The news letter will be distributed to the students today and all will be requested to take it home to their parents. The news letter will contain information about new developments and what is being done in different subject areas.

Dr. Hill said it is hoped the news letter will inform parents to the point that they will be interested enough to ask more questions about the school and its program.

This first issue of the news letter contains eight mimeographed pages. Miss Mary M. Calamine, English and journalism instructor, is editing the news letter. Each department of the school has provided her information for the publication.

Mineral County 'Emergency' Area

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) —Gov. W. W. Barron announced Thursday that the U. S. Agriculture Department has declared five more counties in West Virginia as emergency areas because of the drought.

Barron said he was informed by Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman that the counties are now eligible for assistance under the federal livestock feed program.

They are Marion, Marshall, Mineral, Monongalia and Ohio counties, bringing to 15 the number of state counties being aided under the program.

The counties are now eligible to receive feed grain at reduced prices.

Toward Better Accident Study

A Harvard University research team has questioned the adequacy of police investigations in determining the causes of automobile accidents.

Too often, the group says, the investigation is superficial and the police report lists human failure as the reason for a highway collision when a thorough examination might disclose mechanical defects or a poorly designed road as more significant factors.

In their five-year study of fatal accidents in Massachusetts, the researchers found that more than half were directly attributable to some mechanical failure in the vehicles involved.

The statistics, plus a study of police methods in investigating accidents, led the project's director, a member of the Department of Legal Medicine at Harvard Medical School, to comment: "Society places a very high value on you if you are murdered, and a very low value if your death is by driving."

The Harvard report may be challenged by police and other authorities. But right or wrong, it raises a serious question as to how much is fact and how much surmise in laying the blame—and therefore in seeking a cure—for a national tragedy which takes an annual toll of more than 40,000 lives.

The war for highway safety cannot be fought effectively without determination of the real nature of the enemy.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

'Something For Nothing'

Next week the inhabitants of New York City are scheduled to vote on the desirability of legalizing off-track betting. The idea, as set forth by Mayor Robert F. Wagner, is to bring pressure via a voters' referendum to bear on the State Legislature to grant New York City the right to raise money by going into what might be called a municipal bookmaking business. Republican State legislators, many of them hailing from rural constituencies, have expressed a concern lest legalized off-track betting should encourage a growth of the "something for nothing" spirit.

This columnist does not deny that there are ethical issues involved in betting. But when the State of New York already permits legal pari-mutuel betting at the tracks (indeed, it has recently approved more opportunity for betting by lengthening the legitimate racing season), the scruples of legislators who think it moral to place a bet in one place but not in another seem a trifle ridiculous.

If betting is wrong, it's wrong. If, on the other hand, a case can be made for keeping the channels for betting out of the hands of the underworld by establishing State-supervised pari-mutuel windows, it would seem desirable to make such windows really accessible to those who have the urge to plunk down a couple of dollars on a horse. Why let the shady underworld character get the rake-off involved in "making book" for those who can't find time to go to tracks? The money the bookie takes as his cut on a successful bet becomes "hot" capital that may flow into such things as dope-running or gangster control of legitimate business. Mayor Wagner estimates that the municipal and State share of off-track betting volume would come to at least $200 million a year. Whether this sum is exaggerated or not, it would seem to be the mark of common sense to keep the average fifteen per cent betting service charge out of the hands of underworld financiers. Better that the money should go for schools than for importing dope.

To get an idea of what wagers feel about legalizing off-track betting, we sent our operative, Gus the elevator man, out to the Aqueduct track the other day armed with a questionnaire. (Gus really knows the daily-double addicts, and can get them to talk.) Some of the quotes he brought back were interesting. They indicated that the on-track bet-placer also indulges his hobby on days when he can't get off to see the horses run.

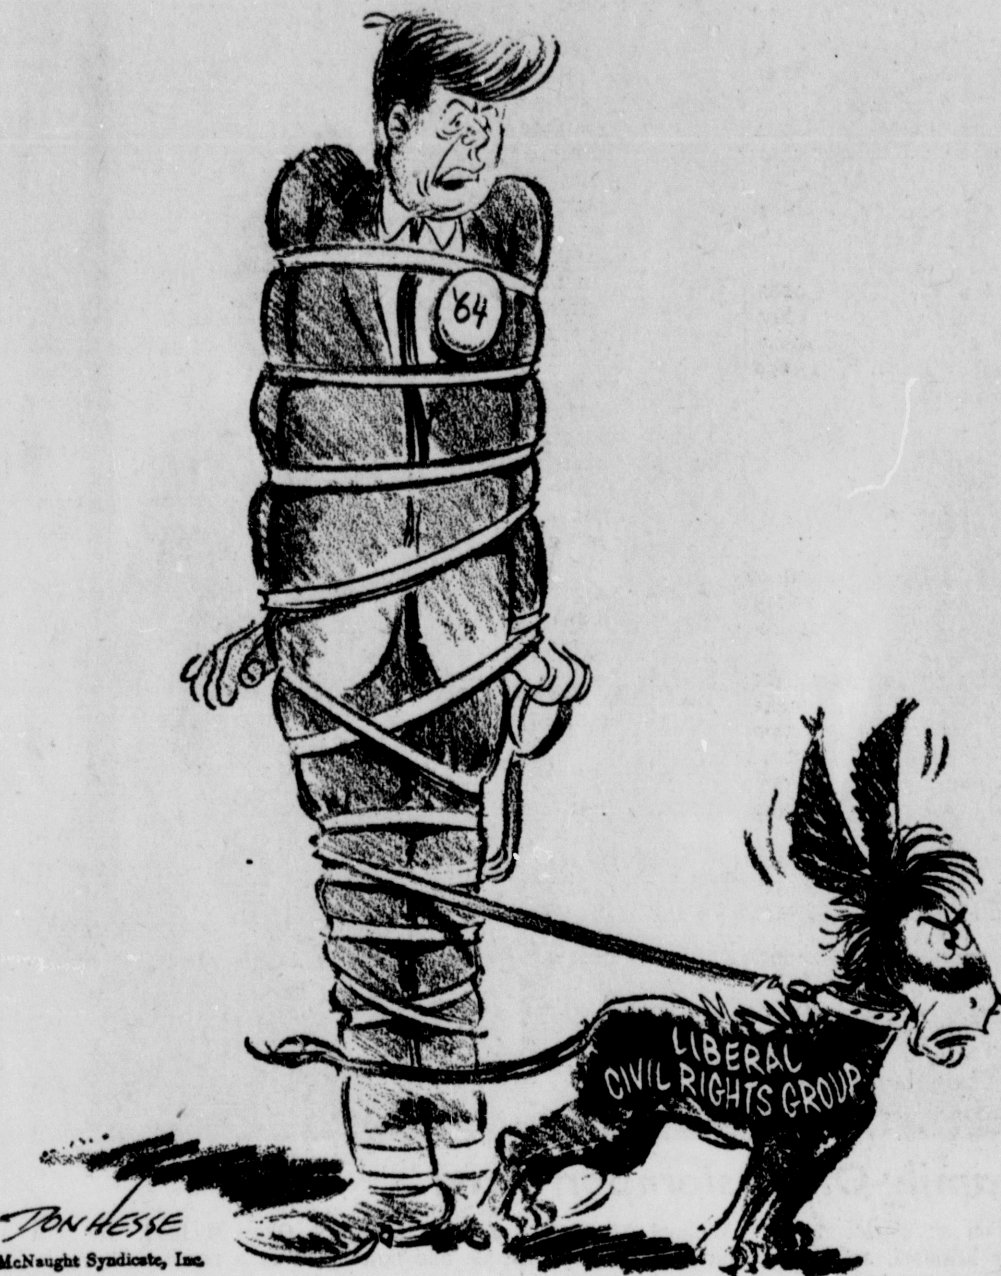

Mayor Wagner's off-track legalization proposition appeals to a fair proportion of wagers because they wouldn't "have to worry about the cops." This would seem to indicate that the present anti-bookmaking laws do not stop people, they merely serve to make them uncomfortable about what they intend to do anyway.

If the reluctant legislators can make a convincing case that legalization of off-track betting will appreciably add to the "something for nothing" spirit that is rampant in our society, they have a good argument on their side. But how many of those who think it immoral to seek a gift of dream-money at the pari-mutuel window offer similar objections when it is a question of tapping the State or "society" for "something for nothing"? Do these people consider it immoral for a farmer to be rewarded for not raising wheat? Did they support the authorities in the city of Newburgh when the effort was made to purge the local relief rolls of moochers? When the Federal government offers funds raised by taxing rural constituencies in Nebraska or Texas to provide big cities with money for urban renewal, is there any moral outcry over what amounts to a quite arbitrary transfer of wealth?

The truth is that the "something for nothing" spirit so permeates our culture that the objection to legalized off-track betting seems quite marginal. For that matter, isn't it actually more moral for a municipality to take and redistribute money granted to it voluntarily (as from a willingly offered fifteen per cent of a bet) than it is to take money by force from people by raising their taxes? The case for voluntary taxation has never been explored by our society, which seems loath to admit that the idea has merits. Maybe a start toward exploring this concept could be made by voting for Mayor Wagner's proposition.

Demonstrations Emphasize Racial Tensions

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON.—Racial tension is unfortunately not diminishing. News dispatches in the last 24 hours tell a tragic story of inflamed feelings and irresponsible action.

In Philadelphia, for instance, the Associated Press reports that on Monday 500 negroes rioted. They broke windows and looted stores. Shattered glass littered the streets. Policemen turned back news photographers for fear their flashbulbs might touch off more outbreaks. The demonstration arose because last Saturday a Negro was shot and killed by a white policeman who said that the Negro lunged at him with a knife while resisting arrest.

In St. Augustine, Fla., according to a United Press International dispatch, white men drove through a Negro neighborhood near that city Monday night, blasting homes and Negro night clubs with rifle and shotgun fire. A live grenade was tossed at one night club but it failed to explode. Authorities said two or three cars containing white men were involved.

These are typical of many disorders that do not always attract national attention. Nearly every day the press associations carry in brief form a list of disturbances due to racial friction.

The question arises as to whether the recent agitation and series of "demonstrations" hasn't produced a racial consciousness that didn't exist before as widely as it does today. Certainly the subject is one that causes grave concern to the police everywhere. Many cities have Negro policemen and, unquestionably, there should be more of them, especially in Negro neighborhoods. For when a white policeman and a Negro collide, the impression can be spread by inflamed persons that the arrest is unjust or that discrimination prevails.

The problem is one that should, to be sure, interest churchmen. Many of them regrettably are themselves active participants in "demonstrations" and hence their influence for observance of law and order is not as great as it might otherwise be. Too often the emotionally impelled leader ceases to be conciliatory and talks in terms that result in perhaps an unintended incitement.

Negro leaders are themselves divided. Although Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy is certainly doing his utmost to diminish racial discrimination and is trying to do it by legislation, he was nevertheless the object of a picketing demonstration Monday night in New York City. The pickets were led by the organization known as the Congress of Racial Equality and included persons from other "civil rights" groups. A spokesman for the UPI as having exclaimed: "The Kennedy brothers sold out the American Negro by trying to water down a strong civil rights bill."

The reference was to the Administration's efforts to get a bill through the House Judiciary Committee. Faced with certain defeat on what was termed an WHEAT DEAL'S IMPACT — A brief tour of Capitol Hill would convince the most doubting that the decision of the United States to permit massive sales of wheat to the European Communist bloc countries rests solely in the area of domestic politics. All of the high-blown rhetoric on both sides of the argument can be swept aside as mere perisillage.

The combined pressures of grain producers and the expected economic shot-in-the-arm were too much for politically-oriented leaders to resist. Conversely, opposition political leaders' arguments seem to be based primarily on the fact that their constituents are predominantly grain consumers, rather than producers. And, of course, beyond this narrow approach, support and opposition seems to split pretty much along lines of political loyalties.

Ever since the beginnings of the Cold War, nearly 20 years ago, American policy was to restrict and contain the economic development of Communist countries on the well-founded, modern geopolitical theory that everything contributes to a nation's war-making capacity. If the grain deal affected fewer Americans' pocketbooks or had a smaller impact on the domestic economy, there is little doubt that its consummation would not have been seriously considered.

In other words, short-term selfish considerations caused a lapse in adherence to long-standing national principles. The Kennedy administration has been known to be "pragmatic" since its inception—some New Frontiersmen have boasted about it—but just as there is no real parallel between personal and governmental economic activities, there is none between private and governmental business concepts.

Arthritis Of Fingers Follows Genetic Pattern

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Arthritis affecting the terminal joints of the fingers is hereditary. The condition is 10 times more common in women than men; it may be the only form of arthritis that follows a definite genetic pattern. Many of the female victims have or have had sisters of a mother with the disturbance. It usually appears in midlife and is a sign the years are passing.

Hard knobs, the size of a pea (Heberden's nodes) develop on top of the joints not far from the roots of the nails. They are tender to the touch and ache when the hand is used. They may come on so slowly they progress unnoticed for months. The opposite occurs now and then in that the joints swell rapidly and are extremely tender and painful.

Regardless of the mode of onset, pain seldom lasts more than six months. But the knobs remain as telltale evidence of this form of osteoarthritis. A related disorder follows specific injuries to the terminal joint. The baseball finger is an example, as well as the changes that occur in the thumb and index fingers of bowlers.

Treatment seldom is needed. The use of the hands should be restricted when the joints pain excessively. Heat gives relief. The previous generation of physicians often recommended washing dishes in hot water. But paraffin baths are more modern, even though the principle is the same.

Approximately 2 to 4 pounds are melted gently and allowed to cool until the thermometer registers 110 and 120 degrees F. The hands are soaked in hot water for 3 minutes and then dipped immediately into the wax. When this wax "glove" sets, dip again and do this 12 to 20 times. Pull off the paraffin after an hour and use again the next day. These layers of wax hold heat in the warm hands, and this offers more relief than keeping them in hot water.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The ghost writer for a commencement speaker at a Southwestern college had dictated his remarks to a secretary who typed them in triplicate, then unfortunately, put all three copies in one binder. When the speaker bumbled to the bottom of Page One, he turned over to the carbon and read it off gravely while the audience listened in growing glee.

The lid blew off completely when he read Page One for the third time!

Exchange Of USA-USSR Consulates Next On Agenda To Ease Cold War

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Next move on the Kennedy-Khrushchev agenda to ease the cold war is a consular treaty, followed by the probable opening of direct commercial air travel between New York and Moscow.

The consular treaty would permit the United States to station consulates in various parts of the Soviet, while the Russians would be able to establish consulates in the USA.

Not for 46 years, after the United States broke diplomatic relations with the new bolshevik government following the 1917 revolution, has the United States maintained a consulate on Soviet territory; nor have the Russians on ours.

The American Embassy in Moscow handles consular matters, and U.S. citizens have not traveled to any great extent in other parts of the Soviet, nor have there been extensive trade relations.

However, the consular treaty will permit the opening of consulates in various parts of the USA and USSR.

Pan American Airways and the Russians have been negotiating for some time for a direct commercial line between Moscow and New York. The chief stumbling block has been Russian desire to fly on to Havana. Aside from this, the agreement is virtually concluded.

Two Ex-cabinetees
President Kennedy received a personal call from two of his first cabinet members the other day—Justice Arthur Goldberg now on the Supreme Court, and Abraham Ribicoff, now Senator from Connecticut. Goldberg had been Secretary of Labor during some of JFK's most hectic labor negotiations, while Ribicoff was Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare during the early skirmishing over federal aid to education.

"You fellows!" exclaimed the President pretending to be peeved. "You fellows! Enjoying the easy life! Well, I sure miss you."

Privately both men have missed the hectic, exciting life of the cabinet too.

Inside The Wheat Deal

The Canadians still have about half a billion bushels of wheat which they can sell the Russians but haven't the port facilities to move it. The Russians may buy it—if U.S. shipping companies continue to insist on high rates—and ship it under bond through U.S. ports, then load it on foreign ships. . . . Moscow is also buying about 350,000 tons of U.S. flour from West Germany. This is a cheaper deal for the Russians than shipping wheat from the United States in American bottoms. West Germany isn't permitted under an agreement with the USA to sell wheat to Russia, but it can sell flour made from U.S. wheat. . . . The United States will have about 750 million bushels of wheat left on hand next June. This is ample to keep the price of bread down—though some bakers are already using the Russian wheat deal as an excuse to up prices. . . . Out of our normal expected export of 675 million bushels of wheat, (excluding any Russian sales) one half will bring no revenue to the U.S. treasury. It's for Food for Peace and sold under Public Law 480 which provides payment in local currencies —(helps to pay for the junkets of Congressmen).

Russian-U.S. Politics

The talks between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko were among the most tightly guarded of any in recent years. But out of them came one general conclusion: Kennedy is not going to rock the boat for Khrushchev in a way that would strengthen the Red Chinese; and Khrushchev is not going to rock the political boat for Kennedy in way that would strengthen Sen. Barry Goldwater.

There was no official agreement on this; in fact, it wasn't even discussed in these terms. Top statesmen don't do things that way. Nevertheless, and reading between the diplomatic lines, this was the chief conclusion on both sides after the talks were over.

Subsequent checks at the Kremlin by the American Embassy in Moscow have borne out the conclusion that Gromyko was happy with the talks and that the British newsmen misquoted him as saying at the Prestwick Airport that the talks couldn't have gone worse. Actually Gromyko was referring to the disarmament talks, which haven't been going at all.

But the general cold war talks between Gromyko and Rusk went reasonably well. Gromyko seemed to understand that Kennedy had political problems and could not afford to tackle a Berlin settlement with presidential elections pending and with a new chancellor of Germany just having assumed office.

Soviet diplomats sometimes wisecrack about the intricacies of American politics, but no one understands these intricacies better than Khrushchev and Gromyko.

Note — U.S. diplomats after careful study of the Berlin autobahn delays are more convinced than ever that this was either a young Red Army officer throwing his weight around; or a deliberate conspiracy by the Red Army to break up the cold war thaw. Various intelligence reports indicate that the Red Army is not happy about any prospect of Soviet-American friendship. It means curtailment of the military budget.

Outspoken Admiral

Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, father of the atomic submarine, has received many honors, including the Medal of Honor, but the other day he received a unique reward for something which used to get him into trouble with the Navy—speaking out.

At one time the Navy almost failed to promote Rickover because he was so outspoken. He criticized Navy red tape, goaded his superior officers until they finally built an atomic submarine. Today the Navy is secretly proud of Rickover though his speeches carry this Navy notation at the top: "This speech reflects the views of the author and does not necessarily reflect the views of the Secretary of the Navy or the Department of the Navy."

The award which Rickover received came from Dan T. Moore, President of the International Professional Association, the professional organization of lecturers and speakers which encourages free discussion, and which gave the outspoken admiral a beautiful silver bowl in recognition for his statement: "The first line of defense is education." Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The old man stood at the elbow of the bar with his son. He looked down at his glass. "See the one at the far end?" he whispered. "The man alone?" The son looked, and nodded. "A tough case," the old man said. "A very tough case. He has cancer and he lost his wife two years ago. The little girls — he had to put them in an orphanage. He cries when anyone mentions the kids. That man is a living saint."

Seven years ago, Stanley Belinger returned from Korea. He had served a hitch on a carrier with the 7th Fleet. He was tall and slender and quiet. He got his old job back as sales manager with a gum vending machine company. Within 60 days, Stan had married Bessie Kowalski. And why not? He had carried her books from school from the seventh grade on.

Anyone in the neighborhood could tell you that it was a normal happy marriage. Bessie, who was short and red-headed and dumpy, kept her job until she became pregnant. Then she quit because Stanley asked her to. In the first year of marriage, Bessie had learned something she had not known before: Stan was quiet, and spoke quietly, but he meant every word he said.

Like the night he wanted to go to the tavern alone. She said no. He said yes. She barred his progress at the door and he asked her, quietly, to step aside. She refused. He dropped her with a right to the jaw. Then he rolled her aside and went to the tavern.

The more he drank, the more he enjoyed drinking. When little Maria was born, Stanley was very proud. Friends who dropped in noticed that it was Stan who held the baby, Stan who fed the baby, Stan who put the baby to bed. When there were no visitors, he seldom looked at Maria.

It was the same when Harriet was born. This was the one he called Bambi. On Sundays at church, Stan held both babies on his lap. When he went to the park with his family, he posed for snapshots with his little treasures, and Bessie was ordered to make the pictures. He bought dolls, and little windup toys for the girls. Stanley Belinger was the ideal husband and father.

He never looked at another woman. Stanley was in love with a shot glass. Sometimes, in the evening, he would spread his business among three or four taverns, so that none of them could say he had had more than a few highballs. Sometimes, when he was ready to leave, Bessie said nothing. At other times, she fought Stanley and clawed him.

There was something about this that delighted him. Often, he punched her in the body so that the marks would not show. When the little ones were four and three, they used to scream in their beds when they heard the scuffling and sobbing. Shortly after, Bessie left the girls with a neighbor to go shopping.

She didn't. She was found in the kitchen, her head on the porcelain table, the gas jets on full. Everyone felt sorry for Stan. They knew how good he had been to Bessie. Wasn't he the one who took care of the babies, fed them, bathed them, put them to bed, told them stories? The neighbors looked at Bessie in rapture and murmured: "Poor Stan."

He took it like a stoic. He held his head high, and the glint of a silent tear stood on his lids. He returned to work, but he found that he could not make a living and take care of little girls. His married brothers offered to take them, but Stanley said it would be a sin to separate them. So he put them in an orphanage.

They have together. Later, Stan began to limp. An old sore on his right shinbone began to ulcerate. It came from banging into guy wires holding aircraft on the deck of a Navy carrier. He ignored it for awhile, and then went to a doctor. The treatments failed. A biopsy was executed. Stanley Belinger had a malignancy on his leg.

Quietly, Stan told everybody. He went to a veterans hospital and surgeons operated on the shinbone. Fortunately, the growth had not metastasized. In a few weeks, he was as well as ever. Stanley forgot to relate this part of the story. Whenever they asked him about it in the tavern, he just smiled sadly and said nothing. And limped.

He decided to quit working. Stanley didn't tell his company; he just permitted them to keep him on the payroll as long as possible. He also collected unemployment insurance. And a pension from the Navy for injury sustained in line of duty.

Once a month, he goes to the orphanage and visits his little girls. He crouches and hugs them. They cry. He cries. They tell him how much they love him and how they want to be with him. The nurses turn away. They can't bear to watch it. Stanley tells his cherubs that they will have a home someday. They just have to be brave a little while longer.

The old man finished his drink and waited for his son to finish a beer. "A tough case," he said softly, looking at the lonely man at the end of the bar. "A living saint."

Bruce High School PTA Selects Family Of Year

WESTERNPORT — State and nationwide attention is being focused this year on Parent Teacher Association activities through recognition of the Parent-Teacher Family of the Year in communities having chapters of this organization. Governor J. Millard Taves of Maryland has already shown an enthusiastic recognition of the importance of outstanding families in the development of close cooperation between home and school life. The governor will be at the State Convention when the Parent Teacher Association family for the entire state will receive recognition.

Bruce High School's entry was chosen by drawing one family name from a number submitted by a nominating committee. This blind drawing chose the family of Mr. and Mrs. Okey Michael.

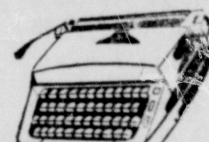

Mrs. Dorothy Michael is a native of New Germany in Garrett County and is a graduate of Grantsville High School, a member of Trinity Methodist Church in Piedmont, W. Va. She has been active in furthering the development of young people while acting as a superintendent in the Children's Department of the Church School. In addition to being a vigorous member of the Bruce High School Parent Teachers Association, she also serves as its treasurer.

Mr. Michael who is a graduate of Bruce High School had his college level training at Potomac State and St. John's College at Annapolis. A navy veteran, he served two and one half years as a World War II officer. He also was a former teacher at Bruce High School.

Mr. Michaels who operates the Western Auto Store in Westernport, is very active in community affairs. In addition to serving as chairman of the Westernport Planning Commission, he also serves as secretary for the Allegany County Library Board. Boy Scout work finds him not only an assist-

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is her they are speechless. I could cry.

My husband and I always wanted a large family, but after seeing this one I don't think we have the right to bring any more children into the world. He doesn't know how I feel about this so please reply in the paper and not by mail. He'll never guess I wrote it. —A MONKEY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: When you look around and see what is happening to the world's most beautiful women you should be happy your infant daughter is no raving beauty.

The greatest gift parents can bestow on a child is not beauty but a sense of personal worth and the desire to be a useful, contributing member of society.

To make a child feel he has failed you because he is not beautiful is shameful. Get your thinking squared away before you damage this little girl beyond repair. And I hope you don't have more children until you get your brains unbraided, Lady.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why is it that the moment a woman is left a widow she is surrounded by relatives, friends and neighbors—for about three weeks. The house is filled with too many people, too much food, too many flowers. The attention is overwhelming.

Then, suddenly, the house is empty, the phone is silent and nobody comes near her.

My husband has been gone three months. Now that the shock has worn off and I really NEED friends, I am alone. In retrospect those people who were hovering around me used my grief as an opportunity to get together socially and enjoy themselves. As I recall it they all had a pretty good time in my home night after night.

It has taken me 54 years to wake up to the realization that people are no darned good—and you can quote me.

—DESERTEDE

DEAR DESERTEDE: Your quote is such a tired one I hope you'll forgive me if I offer a substitute: "Gratitude has a short memory."

Surely you didn't think the hand-holding would last forever, my dear. Now that your friends and family have returned to the business of attending to their own lives you are bitter and resentful. It's like I said—"Gratitude has a short memory."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Many years ago when I had my first baby my sister gave me a beautiful high chair. After the baby had outgrown the high chair it was still in excellent condition, so I decided to sell it. When my sister got wind of this she became huffy and said, "It is not nice to sell a gift."

The unpleasant conversations which resulted caused hard feelings. It all ended by my sending the high chair back to her. We did not speak for several days and the incident was debated in the family.

Months have passed and we are friendly again, but I still feel that a gift once given belongs to the receiver to do with as she pleases. How about it?—HULL, QUEBEC

DEAR HULL: Sorry, but I think it's cheap and petty to sell a gift. Far better to have given the high chair to a needy person or to charity than to have made money on it.

Fort Hill's undefeated Sentinels are favored to win their eighth game of the season tonight when they entertain the Windber (Pa.) High School Ramblers at the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

Coach Ronald Younkin's grid-ers have won only one game in eight outings this season and have been shut out in four of the contests. Fort Hill has rolled up 239 points in seven games and has scored five shutouts. The Sentinels have yielded only 21 points.

The Fort Hill-Windber series dates back to 1936 when the local school fielded its first football team. The Ramblers clobbered the Sentinels in 34-6 and 58-7 in 1936 and 1937 and didn't play the locals again until 1961. Fort Hill squared the series at two-all by copping the 1961 and 1962 games, 18-7 and 20-0.

This is Fort Hill's sixth home game. Coach Charley Lattimer's team meets Loyola of Baltimore here November 9 and winds up the campaign with Allegany on Thanksgiving Day.

LaSalle At St. Francis
LaSalle High's Explorers hit the road tonight to play St. Francis High School's Trojans at Morgantown.

Coach Paul Thompson's team will be engaging in its eighth game of the season, having won only once and lost six times. St. Francis, University High and the Morgantown High Mohigans are all winless this year.

The Trojans, coached by Mike Kopinski, played a 13-13 tie with East Washington, Pa., but lost to Fairview, 46-6, Masontown 20-0, Southern of Oakland, 18-0, Mapletown, Pa., 32-0, Clay-Batte, 12-6 and Hundred 18-0.

Allegany High School's Campers are idle this weekend but they play Beall at Frostburg November 8 and Annapolis here November 16 before tackling Fort Hill in the finale.

Keyser Hosts Beall
Two Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap today and the "big one" is the Beall at Keyser contest which the Golden Tornado must win to stay in the running for a share of the title with undefeated Romney. A Keyser victory would give the Clarkmen a 3-1 record in the conference and would set the stage for the Keyser at Romney battle next week. Romney owns a 6-0 league record.

Petersburg's Vikings face the Highlanders of Southern High School in the other P.V.C. tilt at Oakland tonight. Petersburg (6-3) and Southern (5-3) will be playing their final game of the season.

Hawks Test Hancock
Ridgeley High School's Blackhawk's ring down the curtain this afternoon when they do battle with Coach Paul Imphong's Hancock High School eleven at Ridgeley.

Hancock invades Ridgeley with a 7-1 record and a six-game winning streak. The Washington countians rapped Berkeley Springs in

Houston Oilers Play At Boston

BOSTON (AP)—The Houston Oilers will have star halfback Billy Cannon back in action Friday night when they meet Boston in another of their pivotal American Football League battles.

The Oilers take a 5-3 record and a one-game Eastern Division lead into the Fenway Park contest. The Patriots are division runners-up with a 4-4 mark.

The game marks the only AFL action Friday night. Western Division leader San Diego, 5-2, will be at New York, 4-4, Saturday night. The remainder of the action will be Sunday, when Buffalo, 3-4-1, plays at Denver, 2-4-1, and Kansas City, 2-4-1, is at Oakland, 4-4.

the opener, lost a 13-12 decision to Musselman, and then whipped Bruce, Hedgesville, Boonsboro, Harpers Ferry, Shepherdstown and Charles Town in that order. Coach Tom O'Connor's Hawks have won five of eight games played to date.

Jackets In Finale
Moorefield High's Yellowjackets (1-7) play their final game of the season with Berkeley Springs today at Moorefield. The Indians also are 1-7 to date after their initial win last week over Hedgesville.

Coach Stanley Sedmoch's Mountaineer High griders (7-1-1) conclude their 1963 schedule today by playing Green Bank High of Pocahontas County at Thomas. Green Bank is 5th and Mountaineer 7th in the West Virginia Class A ratings.

Title Game Turkey Day
Martinsburg High's Bulldogs and Frederick's Cadets tangle in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League game tonight at Frederick. Martinsburg is 2-2 and Frederick is 1-2-1. The championship game is set for Thanksgiving Day when Fort Hill (4-0) opposes Allegany (3-1).

Undeclared Meyersdale High School (3-0) plays Boswell tonight. South Hagerstown's Rebels tackle Howard County High School at Ellicott City and North Hagerstown meets Boonsboro High School at the latter place.

Valley Needs Win Or Tie To Capture Soccer Title

Plays Beall Today At Frostburg; Bruce Visits Flintstone

Valley High School gets an opportunity to wrap up its ninth W.M.I. Soccer League championship in 11 years today when it meets the Beall High School Mountaineers at Frostburg.

A victory or a tie would clinch the title for the Black Knights who are 6-1-0 to date and go into today's game with a 6-game winning streak.

If Beall wins the outcome of the title race will not be determined until Tuesday when Mt. Savage plays host to Flintstone. A Valley defeat today coupled with a Mt. Savage victory Tuesday would result in a tie for the championship at 12 points each. Mt. Savage Sharkey.

NOW...a Sure Cure for WALL-CRACKS!

For generations, folks have been trying to repair wall-cracks by filling them, but always give up in despair. And no wonder. Walls constantly expand and contract with temperature and humidity changes. Brittle crack-fillers compress or pull apart, and open-up or fall out. Until Tuff-Kote, the only way to make a permanent repair was replacing the entire wall.

CRACKS DISAPPEAR FOREVER

Now, however, this problem is solved once and for all by a simple application of Tuff-Kote that spans cracks with a thin, pliable, high-strength patch, instead of filling them. This convenient repair is invisible when painted, stronger than the wall itself, and does the job forever. No chipping, no wire mesh, no fuss or muss. There has never been anything like it. Outstanding advantages for many other home uses, too, indoors and out. Everyone is an expert with Tuff-Kote!

Steve Barber To Attend Tri-Towns Hall Of Fame Dinner Sunday

Southpaw Ace Won 20 Games For Baltimore

Replaces Orsino, Three Other Major Players To Attend

Stephen "Steve" Barber, southpaw pitching ace of the Baltimore Orioles, has been added to the list of sports celebrities who will attend the second annual Tri-Towns Sports Hall of Fame dinner to be held Sunday at 6 p.m., at the home of Victory Post, American Legion, Westernport.

The dinner committee was advised by the Baltimore Orioles yesterday that Barber will replace catcher John Orsino, who will be unable to attend.

Barber was a 20-game winner for the fourth place Orioles (86-76) this year. The popular left-hander lost 13 games, struck out 180 and turned in an impressive earned run average of 2.75.

Steve has been with the Orioles for three seasons and has won 47 games while losing 31. In 1961 he posted an 18-12 record, whiffed 150 and his ERA was 3.24. Last year Barber won nine and lost six, fanned 89 and yielded 3.47 earned runs per game.

Other 20-game winners in the American League this year were Camilo Pascual, Minnesota (21-9), Jim Bouton, New York (21-7), Whitey Ford, New York (24-7) and Bill Monbouquette, Boston (20-10).

Johnny Callison, outfielder, and Clay Dalrymple, catcher, of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Bob Purkey, Cincinnati Reds' pitcher, are the other baseball notables who will attend Sunday's dinner at which five outstanding former athletes will be inducted into the Towns Hall of Fame. They are Mike Botamino, Joseph "Pepper" Inskip, Clarence "Mickey" McBee, Harold Robertson and Dr. Donald P. Whitworth.

A posthumous award will be presented to Mrs. Pearl Loudon in memory of her husband, the late William Loudon, native of Piedmont, who played in the major leagues, managed in the minors and died in 1935.

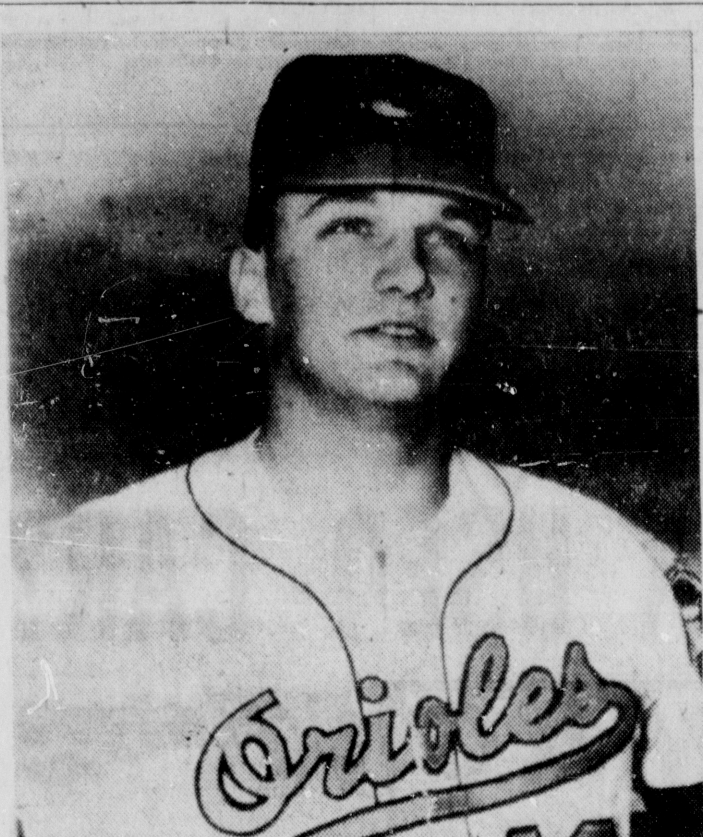

Pony Champs To Attend

Among the special guests will be members of the Westernport team that won the pennant and playoff title in the Pony Baseball League this year.

Kenneth K. Lowe, of the Personnel Department at ABL, will be the toastmaster.

Russell McBee and Raymond Chaney are co-chairmen of the ticket sale committee. Tickets for men and women are $3.50 and student $2. Reservations can be made by calling the Legion Home at Westernport, 359-9005.

Over 12,000,000 fans have watched Michigan football since the big stadium at Ann Arbor was opened in 1927.

STEVE TO ATTEND DINNER—Stephen Barber, classy southpaw twirler of the Baltimore Orioles, will be among the sports celebrities at the Tri-Towns Hall of Fame dinner Sunday at the American Legion Home in Westernport. Steve was a 20-game winner for the fourth place Birds this year, struck out 180 and had an ERA of 2.75. Brooks Robinson and Jim Gentile of the Orioles attended the first annual dinner last year.

Request For Change Of Venue In Bryant Libel Suit Refused

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Federal Judge H. Hobart Grooms Thursday refused a Curtis Publishing Co. request for a change of venue in Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's $10-million libel suit.

Curtis, publisher of the Saturday Evening Post, had requested that the trial not be held in Alabama on grounds that an unprejudiced jury could not be found in the state.

Bryant sued the publishing company for an article entitled "Story of a College Football Fix" which alleged that Bryant accepted Georgia team secrets from former Georgia Athletic Director Wally Butts before the 1962 Alabama-Georgia game.

Butts also sued the Post and was awarded $3,060,000. Grooms did not set a date for the trial.

Olympic tryouts will be held next year July 3-4 at Randall's Island, New York.

A. J. Foyt Given Clean Bill By U.S. Auto Club

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The United States Auto Club gave former Indianapolis "500" winner A. J. Foyt a clean bill Thursday but cautioned him to wear his national driving title with dignity.

USAC, in effect, dropped charges that Foyt allegedly hit fellow driver Johnny White during a sprint program at Williams Grove, Pa., recently.

On the strength of this report by USAC Eastern Zone Supervisor Tommy Nicholson, Foyt was suspended, but the penalty was lifted 48 hours later because of "conflicting reports" in connection with the incident. At Thursday's USAC Board of Directors hearing, five witnesses agreed none saw Foyt take a swing at White following a heat race of the Pennsylvania Speedway. They also agreed they did not see Foyt make un-sportsmanlike gestures to race fans.

Fernandez Rated 2-1 Favorite In Bout At Garden

NEW YORK (AP) — Florentino Fernandez, knockout conqueror of his last five opponents in a hot comeback campaign, is rated a 2-1 favorite to whip Juan (Rocky) Rivero in the all-Latin America television fight at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The 10-rounder will be telecast nationally (ABC-TV), starting at 10 P.M. EST.

Fernandez, a Cuban now living in Miami Beach, was ready to hang up his gloves a year ago. He had been stopped by Dick Tiger and Joey Giambra and then Hurricane Carter knocked him out with one punch at the Garden, Oct. 27. It appeared as if the Cuban middleweight with the whistling left hook was through.

After a few months rest, the once high-ranking contender tested himself once more. In January he knocked out Hilario Morales in two rounds. Then, in succession, he flattened Dario Nunez in the ninth, Jose Torres in the fifth, Randy Sandy in the first and Joe DeNucci in the fourth.

The fifth straight victory boosted the 27-year-old bomber back into the rankings. His record now is 36-6, including 30 knockouts.

Fernandez presents a tough obstacle for Rivero, a 26-year-old Argentine knockout artist who is seeking his first victory in the Garden after two defeats.

N.D. Has Wide Edge

Navy and Notre Dame play the longest continuous intercollegiate rivalry in college football. The Irish and the Midshipmen first met in 1927 and the series has gone on without interruption ever since. Notre Dame has a wide edge, 27-8-1 in the series, but Navy teams under Wayne Hardin Ruth struck out a total of 1,330 yards during his major league career.

Catholic League Games Saturday

The final games of the Catholic Youth Football League season will be played on Saturday instead of Sunday due to the taking of the Catholic census on the latter day.

St. Patrick's will play St. Mary's at 1:30 p. m., at Maryland and St. Peter & Paul will meet St. Michael's at 3 p. m., at Mt. Calvary Field.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear husband and father Thomas L. Plummer, who passed away 2 years ago today, Nov. 1, 1961. Dear, though you've been gone 2 years Time doesn't ease the pain. We watch the road you traveled so much. But watch for you in vain. Our lives and home are empty. Since you went away. But the love we have for you won't go. It is in our hearts to stay. Sadly missed by His Wife, Daughter & Family

FSC Students Want 'Outside' Investigation

College Trustees To Probe Charges

Students at Frostburg State College last night voted to have "an outside, neutral group" come to the campus and investigate charges they made to R. Bowen Hardesty, president, in a statement Wednesday afternoon.

Earlier yesterday, William L. Wilson, Cumberland attorney who is chairman of the Board of Trustees of State Colleges, named a subcommittee to investigate a series of complaints made by the Frostburg Chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

Mr. Hardesty issued a statement yesterday in which he said he was pleased a committee has been named to investigate conditions at Frostburg State College.

Edwin V. Holland, president of the Frostburg Chapter of AAUP, said last night he also is pleased that the board of trustees plans to investigate the complaints, and he said he hopes the investigation will be conducted soon and reaches a satisfactory conclusion.

Proposal Rejected

Last night, approximately 700 students attended a campus meeting and rejected an earlier proposal that a committee made up of administrators, faculty and students study the complaints set forth in their Wednesday statement. It was reported there were only three votes in favor of the proposed committee.

The students favored the "outside, neutral group" because they said in this course of action there will be "no pressure" on members of the group, as there might be if members of the administration, faculty and student body are on the investigating committee. Student leaders said they plan to meet with Mr. Hardesty today and inform him of this decision by the students.

The Student Association said it also plans to make formal requests for investigations by the Board of Trustees of State Colleges, the National Student Association, Gov. Tawes and members of the Maryland General Assembly and the National Education Association.

Copies of Wednesday's statement by the students on complaints at the college also will be sent to the parents of students. Educators in the state also will be sent copies of the statement.

The subcommittee appointed by Mr. Wilson is composed of Samuel Hopkins, chairman, W. Carroll Beatty and Robert B. Hamill. This committee is to conduct a full investigation and report to the board of trustees as soon as possible.

"Serious And Important"

Mr. Wilson said he named this subcommittee because the issue involved is "both serious and important." He said the board has no other comment at this time.

After the committee was named, Mr. Hardesty issued the following statement:

"I am attending a public library meeting in Hagerstown. I am pleased Mr. William L. Wilson Jr., president of our board, has appointed a committee of the legal board to investigate conditions at Frostburg State College. None of these appointees are members of my previous board which served until July 1, 1963. In the best interest of the college in the years ahead this investigation is essential. Propriety dictates to me that I will not give further releases concerning the controversy. I will continue to serve the college, working with students, faculty, maintenance staff, dietary staff, clerical staff and community in continued interest of the college until the commission completes its report and the board reaches a decision."

Everstine Asked To Assist Study Of Home Rule

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce is enlisting the help of Dr. Carl N. Everstine, director of the Maryland Department of Legislative Reference, in a study of the feasibility of home rule for Allegany County.

Robert C. Petersen, Chamber manager, advised Dr. Everstine that the Board of Allegany County Commissioners has approved in principle the Chamber's proposal for a study committee to consider the various types of home rule available to the county.

He asked the former Cumberlander for comments on the procedure to be adopted, pitfalls to be avoided and the size and makeup of the study group.

Dr. Everstine was also asked if he would be available as a consultant on the project.

Some weeks ago, the Chamber contacted the County Commissioners, advising them that its legislative and executive committees, together with State Senator George R. Hughes Jr. and several delegates, had agreed to urge the development of a home rule study committee.

The Chamber proposed that the committee, which would be appointed by the commissioners, would complete a study of the counties which have home rule and develop proposed legislation for Allegany County.

County officials promised to study the home rule proposal.

Hunter Shot, Hospitalized

A Bedford Road area man was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Memorial Hospital last night when gunshot wounds he received when he was accidentally shot while hunting.

William Phillips, 36, Bedford Road, sustained pellet wounds of his face, chest and arms when he was accidentally shot by Ray L. Foley, LaVale.

Tic. George C. Wachter of the State Police said both men were hunting separately in the Oldtown area when the accident occurred. Foley told police he had seen Phillips earlier and had purposely moved away from the area where the other man was. However, Phillips apparently unknowingly moved in the same direction Foley had.

Foley told police he fired into a pine thicket at what he thought was a squirrel. The shooting occurred about noon.

McKaig Leaves His Estate To Housekeeper

The will of W. Wallace McKaig, 81-year-old Cumberland industrialist who died last Friday, was filed in the Allegany County Orphans' Court yesterday.

The sole immediate beneficiary of Mr. McKaig's estate is Mrs. Lelia Campbell Gould, his housekeeper. However, upon her death, the will establishes a fund for the college education of persons residing in this area.

The Pittsburgh National Bank was named as executor of the will and will be represented by William H. Geppert, local attorney.

The eight-page will was dated January 16 of this year.

The will also states that upon the death of Mrs. Gould, who was employed by Mr. McKaig for approximately 13 years, a portrait of Doctor Zacharias will go to the Dutch Reformed Church of Cumberland. It is also stipulated in the will that upon the death of Mrs. Gould, all his books and manuscripts, as well as his oil portraits and paintings, will go to the Cumberland Library.

The will in part states as follows: "I give and bequeath, absolutely, to Lelia Campbell Gould, my faithful housekeeper, all of my jewelry, automobiles, clothing and other purely personal effects, as well as such household goods and equipment which I own."

"All the rest, residue and remainder of my estate, I give to the Pittsburgh National Bank, in trust for the use and benefit of my faithful housekeeper, Lelia Campbell Gould, and the bank shall pay to her, or for her benefit, the net income therefrom in quarterly annual installments for and during her lifetime."

Upon the death of Mrs. Gould, the will stipulates that the principal of the trust estate shall be held in perpetual charitable trust known as the "Lalitie Nash McKaig Foundation" in memory of his late wife.

This foundation will be used, at the sole discretion of the Pittsburgh National Bank, for the purpose of providing an education to residents of the Cumberland area in an accredited college or university.

The education may include all (Continued on Page 12)

Tomorrow's change will be effective at 7 a.m. The new signs also list the months parking is permitted on a certain side of the street.

Hurt In Fall

Fred Bland, 20, of Philadelphia, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday with a fractured right leg he received in a fall on Green Ridge Mountain while working for the Nello Teer Construction Company.

Rainfall, Less Hunting Ease Forest Fire Danger

Yesterday's rain which dampened the enthusiasm for the Halloween celebration eased the burden of state forestry personnel who have been fighting forest and woods fires in this Western Maryland district almost every day.

In late afternoon, the district forester's office in LaVale reported no new fires in the area and the rainfall had reduced the fire danger.

However, District Forester W. A. C. Irwin said the rain was not general enough nor heavy enough to provide any long range protection from fires. He still was thankful for the rain that did at least settle the dust.

Another break for the foresters involves the hunting season. The squirrel and turkey season ended yesterday and there will be no general hunting in Maryland again until November 15. Only the bow season for deer is in effect in the first two weeks of November.

Rabbit, ruffed grouse, pheasant and quail seasons start November 15 and continue to December 5. With fewer hunters in the woods the danger of fire normally is reduced.

Between 15 and 16 acres on Big Savage Mountain in Garrett County was burned in the most recent blaze which was brought under control about 1:30 p.m. Wednesday and apparently was virtually out late yesterday. This area had been cut over in timbering operations several years ago.

The Dan's Mountain fire Tuesday west of Danville burned about eight acres before being brought under control.

There was a half-acre grass fire Wednesday afternoon along the Middle Fork stream, a tributary of Savage River. Crews from the State Department of Forests and Parks extinguished this one.

Escapée Being Held In Florida

State Police and deputies in the office of Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein are convinced on the basis of information about his tattoos that a man being held in Titusville, Fla., is James R. Walter, 24-year-old Flintstone man who twice has escaped from the County Jail.

Local authorities are waiting for definite confirmation on the man's fingerprints before taking any further action to return him here. Also unknown is whether Walter is willing to return to Maryland without an extradition hearing before the Governor of Florida.

Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis said Captain James L. Drawdy, of the sheriff's office at Titusville, Fla., reported that a man who had been arrested on a charge of stealing a car fitted generally the description of Walter.

Deputy Lewis gave Captain Drawdy a detailed description of tattoo marks on the man's hands, wrist and arms and the Florida officer held the phone line until he went to a cell and checked them out. Captain Drawdy called back and reported the tattoo marks fit those on the prisoner.

The man being held in Florida has denied he's Walter and will not make any statement as to his identity.

$5,800 Settles Damage Suit

A $5,800 out-of-court settlement was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court with a damages suit growing out of an accident last May in which a 16-year-old boy was seriously injured.

The suit was filed in behalf of Lee C. Miller, infant, by Cedric Miller and Grace Elizabeth Miller, his parents, guardians and next friends, 1732 Frederick Street, against Richard L. Blake and James E. Blake, 626 Montgomery Avenue.

The declaration states that the 16-year-old Miller boy was a passenger in an automobile owned by Richard L. Blake and driven by James E. Blake which ran off the Airport Road near Wiley Ford on May 18 striking a pole. The Miller youth has sustained permanent injuries and permanent scars, the suit said.

Alva C. Lewis Wins Top Post In URW Local

Morris Is Elected As Vice President

Alva C. Lewis, 315 East Main Street, Frostburg, yesterday was elected president of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, according to Elmer Robosson, Election committee chairman.

Mr. Lewis, who held the top post in the Kelly local two years ago, defeated James W. Stein, incumbent president, in a run-off election Wednesday.

Robert Morris was elected vice president, defeating E. S. Brown, and James Blankenship was named treasurer in balloting against Joseph V. Burke, incumbent.

The results were announced yesterday afternoon after the Election committee completed counting the 1,138 ballots cast in the run-off election.

Elected in the first balloting on October 23 and 24 were:

Charles Offutt and Edward Rosskamp, trustees.

Hospitals Go Along On Yule Display Plan

Fire Chief Virgil Parker said yesterday that new regulations requiring hospitals and similar institutions to use only fireproof holiday decorations will have no effect here, since the rule was adopted on a voluntary basis several years ago.

The new regulation by the State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene prohibits the use of decorations in hospitals and nursing homes on special occasions unless they are certified as fireproof or treated to make them fireproof.

Natural Christmas trees are prohibited but natural greens will be allowed in limited quantities if they are placed so they will not create a fire hazard, the board said.

Trees made of aluminum must not be decorated with strings of Christmas lights due to the possibility of electric shock. If lights are desired, flood lights are acceptable.

No tree, the Health Department said, may be erected in any manner that obstructs an exit or passageway.

Chief Parker said both Memorial and Sacred Heart hospitals, the Allegany County infirmary and all nursing homes have gone along with the Cumberland Fire Department in the same program for several years.
